GIST (Gwangju Institute of Science and Technology, President Kiseon Kim) appointed Dr. Moo-hyung Jeong, who is promoting Korean culture and art, as a special ambassador of GIST to raise its status and role as a global university with a letter of appointment on April 22.

As an advisor to the Eurasian Institute for Peace and Integration and chairman of the Chabin & Chung Productions International (CCPI) in the United States, Dr. Moo-hyung Jeong is actively leading the promotion of Korean history and culture by promoting exchanges between Eurasian countries.

As a special ambassador for GIST, Dr. Jeong is expected to play a role as a bridge for international cooperation between GIST and European countries, such as Germany, contributing greatly to the globalization of GIST until February of next year.

GIST President Kiseon Kim said, "Together with Dr. Moo-hyung Jeong, who was appointed as a special ambassador, we are seeking fusion and diversity through extensive exchanges with European countries. We will actively engage in international exchanges and cooperation so that GIST can take a leap forward as a global university."
